BRIEFS

3.5(c)

Argentina

At least 15 high military and civilian officials reportedly were killed and 30 others were injured yesterday in Buenos Aires when a bomb exploded at a Defense Ministry meeting. Leftist Montonero guerrillas apparently were responsible for the incident.

The Montoneros, once the legal left wing of the Peronist party, were outlawed in 1975. The group killed 21 policemen and wounded another 70 in a bombing in July.
